

We help build & renovate artists—making room for healthy lives and vibrant communities.

How do you build an artist?

The same way you help build any kind of human life:
give room to grow, to heal, to create, to learn and begin again.

Need to re-purpose your creativity in response to trauma?

Need to rewrite your story due to unforeseen plot twists?

We've been there, and we can help.

Our residency program isn't for artists who have it all together.
It's for artists who are willing to work in a community with shared resources as we all motivate each other to dream big.

We're working on establishing a permanent home that is customized for building and maintaining artists. We have no desire to do this alone.

Artists are just people who make art. Artists, like all humans, need security, resources, and help. You might be able to provide something in our community that we haven't even thought about yet!
